

DAYTON PROGRESS is specialist for stamping components. Whether you require Punches, Die Buttons, Retainers - in either standard or special parts - we find the right solution for you. We even Include the needed accessories. Thanks to years of experience, we can be your point of contact for products according to OEM standards and industry standards.

- Punches
- Die buttons
- Stripper systems
- Retainer

Our strengths are your individual needs. We produce according to your design. If needed we etch most of our products with information like material number.

Our field sales is always available on site and our customer service helps you via telephone or email.

What we do today

DAYTON PROGRESS is also known for developing in the customers' favor. For serving you even better we continuously broaden our product range. E.g. by offering cams of UMIX or gas springs.

Since 2012 DAYTON PROGRESS is part of the Japanese conglomerate MISUMI Corporation. The division and products of press die components are sold and supervised by DAYTON since 2014.

From front to the back – we now offer almost everything you need to equip a press die.

With the same power we managed the change from Schneider Stanznormalien to DAYTON PROGRESS in 1992, we will manage as team the challenge to become a system supplier.

Be part of it and design a mutually successful future.
